

বিপিএটিসি স্কুল এন্ড কলেজ

BPATC SCHOOL & COLLEGE

Bangladesh Public Administration Training Center, Savar, Dhaka-1343
E-mail : bpatcsc@gmail.com, bpatcsc@bpatcsc.org, EIIN : 108461, School Code : 1551, College Code : 1953

DO letter no: ১০

Date: 30-12-2023

Subject: Equal Importance of Science, Arts, and Commerce Groups

Dear Guardian,

Warm greetings from BPATC School and College.

As your child approaches Year Nine, an important academic decision awaits: choosing between Science, Arts, and Commerce groups. Traditionally, many of our top-ranked students opt for the Science group, guided by the belief that it offers greater career opportunities. While this perception has been common in Bangladesh, the global scenario tells a different story.

Across the world, students from Arts and Commerce backgrounds are excelling in diverse fields and securing high-profile positions in government, business, media, law, international organizations, and creative industries. Their contributions are equally vital to national development and global progress.

At BPATC School and College, we firmly believe that each group—Science, Arts, and Commerce—holds equal importance. Every discipline nurtures unique skills.

Our role as educators is to guide students toward the path that best matches their interests, talents, and aspirations. Success in life does not depend solely on the choice of group, but on dedication, passion, and the ability to apply knowledge meaningfully.

We encourage you to support your child in making a choice that reflects their strengths and future goals, rather than societal perceptions. Together, let us empower our students to pursue excellence in whichever field they choose.

Thank you for your continued trust and cooperation.

With best regards,

Dr Md Roushon Jamal
Director (Deputy Secretary)
Bangladesh Public Administration Training Centre and
Principal (Additional Charge)
BPATC School and College